

Abstract

Title: Case study of the physiotherapy treatment of patient with Achilles tendon rupture diagnosis

Aims: The aim of this work is explanation and summary of theoretical and practical knowledge about the Achilles tendon rupture and a case study of patient with such diagnosis.

Summary: The thesis consists of general and special part. The general part is a research of literature about the topic. At the beginning I focus on anatomical and kinesiological knowledge about the affected area, then I follow up etiology, pathogenesis, symptomatology and treatment of the injury. Special part is a case study of patient with the Achilles tendon rupture. This part consists of anamnesis, examination, follow-up therapy and concludes with the evaluation of the effect of the therapy.

Keywords: Achilles tendon, rupture, physiotherapy, case study